Temple City's Summer Concerts Series Goes Virtual for 2020 Season

Series features four weekly concerts streaming throughout July.

TEMPLE CITY, CA (July 1, 2020) — Despite the pandemic, the show will go on for Temple City's popular summer concert series—but with a twist.

The City will launch a virtual version of this year's concert series, with four musical performances premiering each Wednesday at 7 p.m. from July 8-29.

The weekly, one-hour concerts will be hosted on the City's Facebook and Instagram accounts (@ConnectWithTC), as well as on its YouTube channel at templecity.us/youtube. Where available, the concerts will also be broadcast and replayed on Spectrum Channel 3.

Now in its 24th season, the popular music series—which usually draws over 2,000 concertgoers weekly at Temple City Park—this year had to take a different format to ensure health and safety during COVID-19.

"The pandemic has been hard on everyone," said Mayor Tom Chavez. "While we've had to adjust this year's summer concert series to the new normal, bringing music into people's homes is a great joy and stress reliever."

This year's talented lineup offers a mix of crowd favorites and new acts. From Latin funk and top 40 hits to classic country—and even a Beatles tribute band—all concerts are family-friendly and representative of a variety of musical genres.

July 8: Sgt. Peppers (Beatles tribute)
Get ready for nostalgia as this tribute band performs the Beatles' top hits using vintage instruments and amplifiers to replicate the sound of a true Beatles performance.

July 15: The Country Club Band featuring Amanda Kate (country)
Known as the hottest and highest-energy country group west of the Rio Grande, this band can play just about anything, from classic country and top 40 hits to jazz and beyond.

July 22: Cold Duck (Top 40s)
Giving people what they want to hear and having a good time, too, Cold Duck continues to heat up dance floors with sizzling covers of top 40, R&B and Latin hits.

July 29: Soto (Latin, Funk, R&B)
